How do I get paid for the services that I provide to you?

I am required to tell you the specific fees, commissions and other benefits that I have received or will or may receive in relation to the services that I provide to you. I must tell you these things before I give you advice or, if that is not practicable, as soon as practicable after I give you that advice.

Fees

I may charge a fee for my time in preparing and providing financial advice to you. If I intend to, I will advise you of the amount of any fee before commencing any work so that you have time to consider whether or not to contract me to do so.

Commissions

Accelerate or I may receive commissions and asset under management service fees from the insurance and investment providers on whose products we recommend, and you take out. The amount of commission is based on the premium you pay and assets under management is based on the total balance of funds you have invested. More detail is provided at the time our advice is given. Wealthpoint retains a percentage of any fees or commissions that are paid to Accelerate.

Conflicts of Interest

We are here for our clients and to advise you as best we can. Your interests are our priority although we do have business relationships with product providers also. From time to time our product providers assist us with funding so we can bring our advisers together for conferences and professional development training. We also receive remuneration from some product providers such as commissions, and asset under management fees.

We manage these conflicts of interest by ensuring that we prioritise your interests above our own. The advice we provide is based on understanding your goals and circumstances and providing recommendations which are based on research. From time to time, Product Providers may also reward us for business we provide to them. For example, they may give us tickets to events, hampers, or other incentives. I have a Register of Conflict which allows me to actively manage any conflicts which arise.

Reliability History

I, Hima Bindu Garikipati have no relevant information to report. I have not been bankrupt or insolvent, have any convictions or been publicly disciplined.
